THE COURTS.

"DOCKING" HORSES TAILS ALLOWED. THE PROSECUTION OF JAMES FRAZER UNSUCCESSFUL.

The trial of James Frazer for "docking" the tail of Henry Ocirichs's polo pony occupied yester-day the whole time of the first part of the Court of General Sessions, in which Judge Glidersleeve presided. The fact of the "docking" was not denied by the defence. The only question was whether it was a useless and therefore criminal cruelty. A. Oakey Hall, for the defence, made a characteristic opening, quoting Othello's speech to the Venetian Sen-ste, Lord Monboddo's theory that man was defective in that he had lost his caudal appendage, and Darwin's theory of the descent of man. He claimed, more seriously that this trial was pressed by the malice of a groom and by Mr. Bergh's excessive zeal, which in tenderness for the brute would deprive man of its use or limit its usefulness. The relative usefulness of the aumal to man was an essential element in considering what was crucity. Indeed, men submitted themselves often to severe operations to regain or increase their

August Belmont, jr., testified that he had directed the defendant to dock Mr. Ocirichs's pony, which was in-tended for use in the game of polo, and the object of the operation was to give the rider the free use of the maller in the game. He explained at some length the game of

George W. Bishop, a veteran horse-dealer, described the operation of docking a horse which formerly was applied to 90 per cent of the horses, and extended to eleven inches of the tail, but now was generally confined to three or four inches. He thought the pain was merely momentary, and not very acute.

James H. Cattanuch, a graduate of the Dublin College of Veterinary Surgeons, thought that there was very little pain in the operation when skiftnily performed, and for some purposes it increased the value of the horse.

A suggestion was here made to bring in the pony, but it was concluded that the staircase was too steep.

James A. Going, a graduate of the Edmburgh Royal Victoria College, testified that he did not regard docking as cruel. He had heard the theory that docking the tail strengthened other parts of the animal, by throwing by anastomosis more blood into them. There were disascreements among professional men.

Mr. Hall—"Yes, yes; there wouldn't be lawyers but for differences."

The witness thought the pain of the operation slight The witness thought the pain of the operation slight and "momentuous."

A dealer in horses for thirty-nine years teatified that he had known horses die from "pricking," but never known one seriously injured by "docking." A witness to the docking teatified that, though the pony was bound so as not to kick, it was not lightly bound, and only winced once when the last stitch was put in.

Mr. Hall, alluding to the beginning and ending of the operation, asked. "Were you at the preface or the operation, esked. "Were you at the preface or the epideme, or there throughout?" The witness looked puzzied. Mr. Hall—"At the beginning or at the end?" The witness—"Well, sir, I was near the tail."

Frazer was placed on the stand and gave his account of the matter, admitting the act but denying the crucity.

Considerable amusement was caused by Mr. Hall here calling Henry Bergh as a witness. Mr. Bergh looked astonished, and asked "Me !" and only on the third call took the stand. It turned out, however, that Mr. Hall only desired to show that he had appeared as a volunteer district-attorney before the Grand Jury, in order to make a legal objection, and the question being ruled out, Mr. Bergh was not further examined.

Mr. Hall declined to sum up. Mr. Herring addressed the jury at length, and Judge Gildersleeve explained the law.

an absence of seventy-five minutes the jury found Frazer not guilty.

THE COMMODORE'S WILL. ANOTHER ADJOURNMENT IN THE CASE AFTER SOME DISCUSSION.

The promptness with which counsel for the contestant in the Vanderbilt will case appeared in Court yesterday morning led to the expectation of some extracrdinary developments. At exactly 11:05 o'clock Mr. Lord addressed the Court, but moved for an adjournment until Friday morning. Mr. Redburn, the letective, he said, was now ill, but would probably be able to attend on Friday. Mr. Clinton was very emphatic in his protest against the motion, reiterating the arguments that he has already made on several occasions. The Surrogate said he would only adjourn in order that the conspiracy witnesses might be obtained. Mr. Clinton-" If the contestant's counsel now have no witnesses, we move, in accordance with your Honor's decision, that the case for the contestant be now closed. We have some rights in this case. The counsel has talked so much about the tyranny of one hundred illions of dollars that he seems to have really brought himself to believe that a man with one hundred millions has no rights in a court of justice."

Mr. Lord-"The opposition have announced that one hundred millions have all the rights when they have said that any will could be broken except that of Com-modore Vanderbitt."

The Surrogate (to Mr. Lord)—"Unless you can show

undue influence." I am surprised at this. Much of the fime of this trial has been taken up in the useless offering of testimony exactly like that which had already been rejected. I have looked at the books to see if there were any way in which I could stop this, but I have reached the conclusion that I am compelled to sit here and listen to the repeated effering of this rejected testimony, when nothing is gained by it."

Mr. Lord claimed that it was necessary for him to do this in order to carry to the appellate court the accumulative testimony as to the Commodore's mental condition.

The Surrogate—"I want to say as plainly as I can that the testimony of medical experts must be put in on Fri-day unless Redburn is present. The case stands ad-journed until Friday at 11 o'clock."

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER CONTENDING. PROCEEDINGS AFFECTING A PART OF THE CARMAN ESTATE.

Richard F. Carman left an estate valued at about two millions. One of his three children was Charles E. Corman, and by his father's will his share was tied up strictly. Charles E. Carman left his wife and his two children, and his wife got a divorce from him and an allowance of alimony, which ceased on his death, soon afterward. The wife's clost child, Lucene, quarrelled allowance of alimony, which ceased on his death, soon afterward. The wife's eldest child, Luccue, quarrelled with her and married a Mr. Gunning. The other child, a boy now about eleven years old, is entitled to over $300,000 on his coming of age, with all the accumulations arising during his minority. Mrs. Carman applied to the courts to be appointed general guardian of her son. Owing to her daughter's opposition, the United States Trust Company and the Union Trust Company were appointed guardians of his property, while the boy was left in the care of his mother, who was allowed $5,500 a year to support him.

A subsequent proceeding by the mother to change the custody of the property was met by a proceeding by the daughter—on allegations that the child's education was neglected, and he was allowed to consort with stable-boys and other unsuitable companions—to take the guardianship of the boy from the mother. The matter was referred, and neither the mother nor the daughter fully succeeded. The case came yesterday before Judge Potter, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on a motion by the attorney for the mother for an allowance for his services out of the estate of the boy. This was carnestly opposed by Mrs. Gunning's counsel, on the ground that the litigation had been originated by Mrs. Carman, and whatever success there was was on behaf of Mrs. Gunning in establishing a supervision over the boy's education. Judge Potter reserved his decision. Charles E. Whitohead appeared for Mrs. Carman; Elbridge T. Gerry for Mrs. Gunning.

VACATING AN ASSESSMENT.

A DECISION WHICH WILL PROBABLY COST THE CITY

LARGE AMOUNTS. A case involving in its rulings a very large amount of assessments was decided yesterday by Judge Lawrence, in Supreme Court, Chambers, against the city. In 1873 the Board of Health directed the filling-in of the land between Ninety-second and One-hundredand-sixth-sis. and Third-ave, and Harlem River, a low tract covered at extreme high tides with water. On this land the drainage of a large part of Yorkville was disharged. The Board also directed the building of drains, and six were built. The drains cost $5.491.20; the filling-in cost $280,522, and the other expenses were $17,712, making a total of $307,943.83. The whole area improved covered twenty-cirit blocks, but the drains wan through only eleven blocks. An assessment for benefit, under an act passed in 1871, was made and sonfirmed in 1876. James Van Buren was assessed $306.00 his property, and moved to vacate the assessing. and-sixth-sts. and Third-ave. and Harlem River, a low Judge Lawrence holds that the act of 1871 only covers be drains, and it is doubtful whether compensation for the land taken is not due the owners of the land. The assessment should be clearly vacated, because the bulk of its not for drains, but for other surposes, and in a large portion of the assessment property there are no trains. The corporation might have filled in the sunken lots under other statutes, but chose to proceed under the set of 1871, which does not cover that object. The assessment is therefore vacated.

GEORGE W. MORTON'S SUIT FOR SALARY. THE CLAIM THAT HE IS STILL EXCISE COMMIS-

SIONEE. George W. Morton brought a suit against the city, nominally for his salary for February and March of this year as Excise Commissioner, but in the shape in which it comes up presenting the question whether the power of removing Excise Commissioners a vosted in the Mayor or Governor. The answer to the bull sets up his removal by the Governor, and his reply pois up all the proceedings before the Governor and de-ties their validity to remove him. The city demurs to be reply, and the case came yestorday before Judge colories, in Superior Court, Special Term, on this

To be a superior to the plaintiff, it was niged that the office of In behalf of the plaintiff, it was niged that the office of In behalf of the Charter of 1873, and that the Commissioners were to be appointed and removed by the Mayor in the manner pointed out by the charter. On the steer hand, it was claimed that the charter nowhere mentions these Commissioners, that they are part of the State system of Excise, and amenable to the Governor as Sheriffs are, although local-officers. The Governor had therefore power, after giving a hearing, to remove for neglect or malfensance; that was a judicial power, and he having exercised it, his judgment could not be reviewed by the Court. Decision was reserved. David Tomlinson appeared for the plaintiff; D. J. Dean for the city.

In the suit of Oscar M. Vatel for a divorce from Elizabeth Vatel, Judge Donohue in Supreme Court, Chambers, granted, yesterday, a commission to take testimony in Chicago. Judge Van Brunt, in the suit of Almira Sutherland

PROCEEDINGS IN FOUR DIVORCE CASES.

Judge Van Brunt, in the suit of Almira Sutherland against Henry M. Sutherland, made an order of reference to take proofs.

In the suit of Caroline Ramppen against Francis A. Ramppen Judge Lawrence refused an order to attach the defendant for contempt for not paying 87 a week alimony and $150 counsel fee. The defendant stated his entire willingness but utter inability to pay it.

Judge Lawrence denied a motion to punish for contempt the defendant in the suit of Mary Pritchard against Richard H. Pritchard for not paying the costs and counsel fee taxed on the cutry of the judgment, amounting to $249 76. Judge Lawrence says the plaintiff's counsel has an adequate remedy by execution without resort to the extraordinary powers of the Court.

CIVIL NOTES.

The suit by Levi Parsons against the Misouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company and its directors to set aside the recent election for directors, or at least to have Mr. Parsons declared a director, came up. yesterday, before Judge Potter, in Supreme Court, Chambers, but he, being busy, sent the trafter to Judge Donohue to whom the papers and briefs were submitted.

Whitworth & Co., of Memphis, had a contract with the Eric Railway to take their cotton, about 1,000 bales, from Memphis to Liverpool. The cotton, in March, 1873, reached Jersey City, where 391 bales vere burned. Whitworth & Co. sued the Erie Rallway, which defended on the ground that the bill of lading ex-pressly exempted it from liability for losses by fire, and that in fact the cotton when destroyed was in possession of a lighterage company. The case is now on trial be-fore Judge Sanford, in Superior Court, Trial Term.

William Herries, as the representative of number of the employes of The Republic, a newspaper which lived a few weeks, sued C. C. Norvell, the prestdent of the company which published it, E. B. Wesley, its treasurer, and others, to recover their salaries. The case was tried yesterday before Judge Van Brunt. E. B. Wesley testified that though his name was used with his knowledge, he never had any interest in the com-pany, and only agreed to act as its treasurer in certain contingencies which did not arise. Judge Van Brunt decided that as the pisintiff had settled with one of the stockholders who was jointly liable, this enured to the benefit of all, and dismissed the complaint.

Theodore F. Miller, the referee in the matter of the Asbury Life Insurance Company, filed his report, which was confirmed by the Supreme Court Special Term, May 2, and an order of distribution was made. It directed the Superintendent of Insurance to transfer the $106,000 of the funds of the company in bia bands to the receiver for distribution among the policyholders. Judge E. L. Fancher wrote to the Attorney-General asking him to direct the transfer, but the Attorney-General appealed, which throws a decision over to Autumn at least. Judge Fancher has written to the Attorney-General offering, in view of the indigent condition of many policy holders, to pay any expenses of the appears of far incurred if it is withdrawn, but has received no answer.

Boston, June 18 .- The tenth annual convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers was opened this morning in the Institute of Technology. Some of the most prominent civil engineers of the country were present. E. S. Philbrick, of Boston, was chosen to preside. The paper of W. H. Burr on approximate determination of stresses in the eye-bar head, which was read at a former meeting, was discussed by Profeswas read at a former meeting, was discussed by Professor Devaison Wood. A paper by Charles E. Emery, relative to quantities of material in bridges of different kinds, of various heights, was discussed by W. H. Searles. A paper entitled "A New Method of Detecting Overstrain in Iron and other Metals, and its Application in the Investigation of Causes of Accidents to Bridges and other Constructions," by R. Thurston, was lead by Secretary Bogart. A paper on the South Pass jetties, descriptive and meidental, and memoranda, by E. L. Corthell, was read. Following this was another paper on the same subject, by Captain C. W. Howells, U. S. A. M. F. Collingwood explained the recent accident to a wire strand of the East River bridge, illustrating the same with drawings on the blackboard. The convention was then adjourned.

A BANK CASHIER'S SUICIDE.

TROY, N. Y., June 19 .- Edwin Andrews, eashier of the Washington County National Bank of Greenwich, committed suicide this morning by hanging. A revolver was found in his pocket. The bank was re-cently suspended, and is found to be entirely wrecked by the operations of the cashier, who has heretofore en-joyed a high reputation as a man and Christian.

An exemplary clergyman, who is somewhat weak in the pulpit, relates with much good nature how an "clevated" drover, whom he met in a coach, did in all kindiness try to gloss over this interiority. "Ah, Doetor E.," said the drover, his heart warmed by good bargains at a great market, "ye dinna kea me, but I ken you. I'm whiles in your narish. There's no a better likit man onywhere; yer own felk jist adore ye. Who cares aboot preachin'?"

A herculean Yankee, from the lumber districts of Maine, on paying his bill in a London restaurant, was informed that the amount paid didn't molude the watter. "Wal," he rosred, "what et it don't! I didn't oat any watter, did it?" And he giared at the attendants so feroclously that they precipitately left him to no his way in peace.
